

WOLVERINE

Commercial Markets

You want to minimize the effect of fire to "business as usual"...

...We want to provide the correct solution so you can.

Commercial markets often require special fire protection systems to protect property and reduce down-time in case of occurrence. Wolverine Fire Protection Co. has had experience in data center, office, and high rise settings as well as many other commercial settings.

Our expertise in system requirements, and our abilities, offers access to a complete detection, notification, and suppression system in these types of environments. We are prepared to put our commitment to code compliance, customer needs, quality, and safety to work in any commercial project. Wolverine Fire Protection Co., as a full service design build fire protection contractor, has the ability to staff each level of need that you may have. This includes wet/dry suppression, clean agent/special hazards, detection, alarm, and releasing. Our staff includes engineers, design technicians, and fitter foreman/project managers. We also have the ability to field installation crews comprised of union tradesmen.

Design-build Experience in various system types:

General Systems

- Dry systems
- Wet systems
- Deluge systems
- Alarm & sprinkler

Special Systems

- Dry chemical
- Foam
- Infrared detection
- Clean agents
- Mist Systems

Offering high quality professional fire protection and a solid commitment to the preservation of lives and property since 1958

Locations throughout the United States

1-800-530-9006

www.wolverinefp.com